

ariete Brake Lock

The ariete brake lock is very easy to use. You push it onto the brake lever and pull it back and over the rubber of the handle bar. That will block your front wheel. The brake lock is very useful when it comes to motorcycle transport, workshop platforms, bleeding the brake or if you want to unload your cases in uneven terrains.

If an adjustable brake lever is installed and this is set to the maximum distance, it can happen that the connection between the red and black part comes loose. However, these can then be put back together. In this case, please adjust the brake lever so that it is closer to the rubber of the handlebar.
